WARNING!

TO THESE 35,655 PIPE SMOKERS

WATCH the enjoyment of men who now smoke this different truly aromatic tobacco

NOTICE BOND STREET'S delightful fragrance—truly aromatic—and the way it leaves no stale tobacco odors in the room. Even the ladies approve.

BOND STREET contains a rare aromatic tobacco never before used in any popular priced mixture. It doesn't lose its flavor.

Experience shows a high percentage of every thousand smokers won't smoke anything else once they enjoy its clean, rich flavor—bite-free as a custom blend! Which means—among readers of this magazine—there are 35,655 pipe smokers who still have this exciting discovery to make.

Buy a tin today. You may be one of the 35,655!

A Whiff to the Wives is Sufficient!

BOND STREET
PIPE TOBACCO
15¢ GENEROUS SIZE POCKET TIN

A product of PHILIP MORRIS materials as thin as 33-gage* and of aluminum and other light metals without heat discoloration or distortion. Low amperage for arc welding was obtained through revolutionary use of mercury vapor rectified tubes.

Rapidly has this type of arc welding taken its place in the nation's vital aircraft industry because welding of all types of aircraft tubing is possible. Army and Navy Air corps, as well as the Civil Aeronautics Administration, have approved low-current arc welding. . . .

WALTER GEIST
Vice President

Allis-Chalmers Mfg. Co.
Milwaukee, Wis.

▸ TIME's story in its brief compass did not undertake to cover all recent developments in welding. To Allis-Chalmers and several other companies goes credit for improvements of many kinds. —ED.

Line of the Year

Sirs:

I submit my nomination for "the line of the year," the concluding sentence of the article "Routine Declaration," TIME, Dec. 22:

"Thus, as it must to all good peoples, war with the Nazis came to the U.S."

JEROME SCHEUER

Brookline, Mass.

"My Little Saw"

Sirs:

TIME, Dec. 22: "Some misguided Washington patriot, unable to get at the Japs, emulated the Father of his Country and chopped down four of the lovely Japanese cherry trees along Washington's Tidal Basin."

Acme

No anti-Axis axman he,
Who sawed down that cherry tree.
Washington's feat, he could match it
If next time he'd use a hatchet.
Or had Washington told his irate paw,
"Dad, I did it with my little saw."

JOHN W. MCMURRAY JR.

Springfield, Ill.

▸ To Reader McMurray and some 40 others who detected the work of a saw rather than a chopping instrument (see cut), a sugarplum for sharp-eyed scrutiny.—ED.

* .01 inch.

42

2061033518

Source: https://www.industrydocuments.ucsf.edu/docs/sycv0000 2061033518